MAN AND THE HORSE.

Animal Conquest Marked One of the Epochs in Civilization.

The conquest of the horse by man and its final utilization for all purposes which are discharged by steam and electricity today marked one of the great turning points in the history of civilization. In the great earth and sand preglacial deposits of Europe the true wild horse is as widespread, though not as varied, as in America. It is not at this stage associated with the remains of man, because no preglacial man except the pithecanthropus or trinil man of Java has been found. In the interglacial or postglacial period the remains of man and the horse are first found together. The first association occurs in the middle of the paleolithic or rough implement period. The discovery of all the possible uses of the horse came very gradually, however, for there is abundant proof that man first hunted and ate, then drove and finally rode the animal.

The prevailing drawings of the paleolithic horse represent him as hog maned, with no forelock to conceal the low bred Roman nose. A second type in the Mouthe cave, a bearded horse with long, bristling mane, long ears and convex forehead, is regarded by M. Riviere as another species. But it is not clear to my mind that these drawings represent more than the summer and winter coats of the same animal. Besides these Roman nosed types, to which Ewart traces the modern cart horse, there are others with small heads and flat noses, which Ewart associates with the Celtic pony and possibly with the origin of the thoroughbred. Other cave drawings, reproduced by M. Capitan, leave little doubt that the ass was known in Europe. It is also certain from abundant evidence in the caves of France that there was a larger horse toward the south perhaps, while the smaller breeds may have frequented the colder northern regions.—Century.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Forgiveness is a very poor foundation for friendship.

Going visiting is like borrowing from the neighbors—you have to pay back.

Which would be wiser for a man past fifty to do—marry a trained nurse or a good cook?

There is need of a never-find-fault-with-your-meals club. Digestion would be better and the family happier.

If a secret is kept a secret this is one sign that it was not considered important enough to tell.

One thing about an idle woman—she does not stand on the street and bore people with her "views," as an idle man does.

Speaking of superfluous words, is it necessary to say in telling that a woman has gone visiting that she is visiting "friends?"—Atchison Globe.

To the Point.

The late General Russell Hastings served with distinction in the civil war, and his wartime reminiscences were amusing.

He was describing one day a time when the soldiers' pay had been in arrears.

"A young westerner, full of braggadocio," he said, "walked up to his captain during the temporary trouble, saluted and said sternly:

"'Three words with you, cap.'

"'Well,' said the captain, 'what are they?'

"'Money or discharge.'

"The captain smiled grimly.

"'Four with you,' he said.

"'Well?'

"'Neither one nor t'other.'"—New York Tribune.

Old Time Controversies.

Old time controversies were often vigorous in language. In a controversy with Milton concerning the divine right of kings Salmasius called his opponent a puny piece of a man, a homunculus, a dwarf not having a human figure, a bloodless being, a creature of skin and bones, a contemptible pedagogue fit only to flog boys, a rhinoceros, a hangdog looking fellow. The great English poet not only answered in kind, but entered into an extensive correspondence with people in Holland to obtain petty gossip and scandalous anecdotes concerning his opponent.

COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday, November 19, 1904.

D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

ROSS FOR APPELLATE JUDGE.

The official election returns indicate that the constitutional amendment creating an appellate court for this State has carried. The Republicans of San Mateo county, believing that in this county we have a resident peculiarly fitted by his sound legal learning and high standing in the community for a position in that body have set about to present the name of Hon. Geo. C. Ross to the Governor for his favorable consideration. Mr. Ross is one of the ablest lawyers of the State, and his appointment to the appellate bench would be hailed with pleasure not only in this county, where he has occupied an honored position at the bar for more than twenty years, but throughout the State where he is known by reputation. Governor Pardee could do no better than to name Mr. Ross. He has always been a consistent Republican, and during the last campaign as in previous campaigns, he performed yeoman service for the success of the Republican ticket. It is not on the ground of political service, however, that his friends seek his elevation to the honorable position, but because they know he will prove an honest and fearless judge—and one who will command the respect and admiration of all classes of people. It is entirely without Mr. Ross' knowledge that his friends are engaged in advancing his name, but they will continue the work in the hope of ultimate success.—San Mateo Leader.

We endorse everything the San Mateo Leader says in reference to Mr. Ross's ability. A better and a more honest and capable man than he could not be found for the position of Appellate Judge. The appointment would only be a fitting testimonial of his ability and a well merited reward for the invaluable services Mr. Ross has rendered the Republican party. San Mateo County is entitled to recognition at the hands of the party for its loyalty and support. It is the banner Republican county of the State. At the recent election it gave a plurality to Roosevelt and Fairbanks of 1285 out of 3285 votes. In proportion to the vote cast it was the greatest plurality given the Presidential candidates by any county in the State.

Mr. Ross has the endorsement ot the best lawyers in the State. His appointment would be a timely recognition of the county as well as placing an able, honest and just man on the bench.

The Republican County Committee met yesterday and endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Ross. A strong petition was forwarded to Governor Pardee urging the appointment of Mr. Ross.

PULLED THE TRIGGER GENTLY

Bullock's Phenomenal Shot Makes Him Hero of the Hour.

District Attorney Bullock is to-day one of the proudest men in San Mateo county. So exalted is he that he passes by upon the street those who are his best friends without even a nod or a smile, and men whose reputations as successful nimrods have long been established.

Mr. Bullock's present unusual condition has not been caused by the great Republican landslide, but by reason of the fact that he holds the championship medal for the largest number of quail known to have been killed in the county at one shot.

It all happened this way: Joe was at San Gregorio on a little political jaunt and stopped over one night at the Hotel de Palmer. The next morning after breakfest, while standing at the entrance to the hotel grounds, telling Mr. and Mrs. Palmer in most eloquent and glowing language just what would and did happen on November 8th, the eagle eye of the District Attorney espied an immense bevy of quail feeding near the fence close to the road on the Quentin property. Joe was quick to act. Hastily procuring a gun from Frank Bell he doffed his hat and coat, crossed the road and crept along the fence toward the doomed birds with all the stealth of an on old-time hunter. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer stood watching in breathless anxiety. They feared not for the safety of the quail, but they both knew that that particular gun had been loaded but a short while before with eight drahms of black powder and two ounces of shot in one barrel. It had been the owner's intention to tie the gun to a fence and pull the the trigger with a string to test the quality of the steel in the barrels. Mr. Palmer did not think of it at first and it was now too late to warn Bullock of his danger. He had approached within 35 yards of the feeding birds. Slowly he raised and took a rest on the top rail of the fence. Mrs. Palmer covered her eyes with her hands, as she thought of the terrible scene of carnage about to be wrought, of telephoning to Coroner Crowe and the mourning throughout the county when that gun was fired.

Bang it went with a roar that shook the hotel. The gun flew half way across the road and Joe turned a back somersault into a patch of blackberry vines. He jumped to his feet and shouted for Mr. Palmer, who was already running to his assistance. Bullock was calling frantically to get a sack. His aim had been true. The air was full of flying feathers. Dead and wounded quail were lying everywhere. The District Attorney realized that he had broken the law by killing over the limit. What should he do? Visions of Game Warden Littlejohn were passing rapidly through his mind and Palmer seemed an age bringing that sack. When he did come he brought Mr. Bell with him.

Hastily the birds were picked up and counted. Some of the cripples had had managed to get away. There were just seventy-five. "Thank God," exclaimed Bullock, as a happy idea occurred to him, "my reputation as a lawabiding citizen is maintained. The law allows each man to have 25 birds in his possession at one time. You take 25 Palmer, and you 25 Bell, and I'll hang on to the balance."

Down they proudly went to the hotel. Bullock was the hero of the hour and that is why he walks with head erect and passes his best friends without any signs of recognition.

DISASTROUS WRECKS.

Carelessness is responsible for many a railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung diseases by P. A. Ryan, druggist. Price 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

With a plurality of 22,470 for Roosevelt, Los Angeles still is the banner Republican county. But it did not have any votes to waste.

NOT A SICK DAY SINCE.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determinhd to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relelved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have bean cured of Reumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Lidney Troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass of Fremont, N. C. writes. Only 50c, at P. A. Ryan's, druggist, Redwood City.

It might be well to contract with the Japs for excavating the isthmian canal after they finish their present contract at Port Arthur.

A RUNAWAY BIOYCLE.

Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's just as good for Burns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c, at Ryan's Drug Store.

On the same day California and Washington, the two leading maritime States on this coast, voted on a constitutional amendment to exempt American shipping from State, county and local taxation. The amendment carried in Washington and was beaten, so far as known, in California.

DOES'NT RESPECT OLD AGE.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jauudice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. 25c, at P. A. Ryan's Drug Store,

"The Taming of Helen."

"The Taming of Helen," the clever comedy by Richard Harding Davis, will be the attraction for the week commencing next Monday night at the Majestic theatre, San Francisco, to succeed "Hearts Aflame" which has been such a pronounced drawing card. "The Taming of Helen" is one of the very highest class of American comedies and was presented here two seasons ago by Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin when it met with the favor of the theater going public to such an extent that it was made a special offering during the closing week of the Miller-Anglin season after it had already been favored with a regular run of nine performances.

The quality of performance given every Tuesday night merits the large attendance.

The affray took place in the Canyada and Coady was brought to Redwood for treatment. A warrant was at once issued for Whitlock's arrest, but he was not caught until this week.

The funeral took place Monday from Mount Carmel Church, where a solemn requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul. Rev. Father White spoke consolingly to the sorrowing family. The interment was in Holy Cross cemetery, Menlo Park.

Things to let alone—the affairs of others.

FOR A GREATER REDWOOD.

Timely Expressions on the Topic of Expansion.

Steady Growth and Substantial Improvements the Rule. Pleasant Awakening.

Now that the great political sesmetic disturbance is over and the country again safe until next election, it behooves the people of this great commonwealth in general, and the inhabitants of Redwood and this peninsula in particular, to get down to a little sober thought.

We must look for victories along lines not necessarily of a political character, but along lines of public welfare, which include lines of electric cars, lines of street improvements, lines of sewer and water pipe and innumerable other lines on which the line of progressiveness in this particular spot may be extended.

Of course, before entering further into a discourse that perhaps somebody may read, it may be in order to express a few expressions about our town:

Expression 1—I must congratulate the people of Redwood that in addition to having a corner on climate, they are in front of the procession for possibilities that are materializing fast. After so many years of statu quo, as it were, it seems that lethargy has been eliminated from the vocabulary of our citizens and doubled distilled activity inserted in lieu thereof, which has become a fad.

Expression 2 — Since anchoring the county seat in this town, and the cornerstone function last May, there has been something doing. Property values have risen from three to five points, with an upward tendency. Many have awakened and now begin to realize their dreams. Every property owner in Redwood, irrespective of political faith or personal prejudice, has become imbued with the belief that Redwood is a pretty good place to tie to. They not only THINK, but ACT! As proof of this assertion you all know they have loosened their purse strings and are improving their long dormant vacant lots. Houses are going up in all directions and the new buildings now in progress would startle the oldest inhabitant.

Expression 3—Even San Mateo capital has been attracted hither, as Mrs. Lee's new buildings on A street will bear testimony. The new bank building, a hotel, the Carnegie library building and numerous private residences contemplated, will become fixed facts and ornaments to the town before the end of another year. The handsome new business block of Stafford Brothers on A street is nearing completion, and shouts for itself. It will be occupied by this enterprising firm at an early date. Colonel Anderson's proposed two-story structure on the lot he recently purchased on Main street, opposite Chamberlin's store, will soon be in course of construction. The numerous pretty new homes in the Robinson subdivision is further evidence that Redwood is firmly soldered on the map.

Expression 4—The beautiful new high school building as well as the handsome grammar school structure, have had favorable comment, but I wish to add that the excellent public and private school systems of this city have been well charged magnets to attract attention to this locality, and will continue as loadstones to bring many more desirable residents to this charming section.

Expression 5—Another worthy project that is maturing fast is a new church edifice (somewhat of a surprise) that will receive commendable praise from all creeds. The parishioners of Mount Carmel Catholic Church are thinking of constructing a new house of worship that will be commensurate with the growing demands of the parish. The present structure is inadequate for their needs and a grand church edifice has become a necessity that cannot longer be delayed without inconvenience to its increasing membership.

Expression 6—The sixth and last expression will be in the form of a resolution and here it is:

Resolved, That we, as citizens of Redwood, pledge ourselves to work for the the best interests of the town and patronize our own butchers, bakers and candlestick makers and buy goods from our home merchants, with a view of building up a Greater Redwood for our mutual welfare and happiness.

That's all this time, but more expressions may follow if the market is not overstocked.

Yours for Greater Redwood, Q. Z.

STUDENTS WILL ACT.

Two Performances to be Given on Santa Clara College Stage.

"The Light Eternal," by Martin V. Merle, author of two successful plays, "The Prairie Judgment" and "The Cardinal's Prisoner," will be presented twice on the Santa Clara College stage by the Senior Dramatic Club. The first performance will be given on Thanksgiving Eve, November 23, and the second Saturday evening, November 26.

The play is religiously historical and very spectacular. Months of preparation have brought the students to a high degree of proficiency and as the staging of the play has been done with no regard for expense, the production should prove wonderfully successful.

A special train will leave Third and Townsend streets, San Francisco, Saturday, November 26th, at 5:30 p. m. for the second performance, stopping at all way stations, and returning at 11:30 p.m. Tickets at popular prices—25c, 50c, 75c, may now be procured at the University drug store, Palo Alto.

COUNTY BOARD IN SESSION

Official Business Transacted by the Supervisors at Last Meeting.

There Will Be No Saloon at Burlingame.—The Election Returns Canvassed.

The Board of Supervisors met last Monday to canvass the votes of the recent election. All members were present at the session.

On motion of McEvoy seconded by McCracken the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The canvassing of the returns were then proceeded with.

C. W. Eastin appeared for James Casey who intends to contest the election of Julius Eikerenkotter. Geo. C. Ross looked out for the interests of Eikerenkotter and Debenedetti, and James T. O'Keefe represented Antone Joseph who was defeated by Joseph Debenedetti.

The canvass of ballots developed the fact that in Millbrae and La Honda one of the election officers swore in the election boards. While in Colma the officers were not sworn in at all, or if they were the person performing this duty neglected to fill out the affidavit.

Objections were raised to these irregularities but were finally withdrawn and the returns canvassed. McEvoy objected to the counting of La Honda precinct on the grounds that the election board was not legally sworn. He subsequently withdrew the objections.

At the conclusion of the canvass R. H. Jury, Julius Eikerenkotter, John MacBain and Joseph Debenedetti, were duly declared elected and the clerk was instructed to issue certificates of election to each.

Following is a tabulated statement of the returns:

The application of Charles P. Hawke for a license to conduct a saloon at Burlingame was taken up for discussion. Another protest in addition to the one read at the last meeting was read by the clerk. E. F. Fitzpatrick for the protestants represented that deeds to all the property at Burlingame except one block contained the liquor clause prohibiting the sale of liquor in that locality. Fine homes had been built, the best class of citizens resided there and the opening of a saloon would be a detriment to the town and a menace to the people who had erected attractive homes beleiving that no saloons would be tolerated there. To preserve the integrity of the contracts entered into by original owners of property there he urged the Board to deny the application. Judge J. M. Allen, representing the Occidental Land Association, explained that all the deeds issued by the Association contained the liquor exemption clause, and that Burlingame was laid out as a place for desirable homes where no liquor would be sold. He urged the Board to deny the prayer of the petition.

W. A. Brewer said there was a unanimous spirit at Burlingame that the application should be denied, and urged the Board to bow to the will of the majority.

Mr. Pickering, agent for the Howard Estate, made a strong argument in opposition to granting the license. He pointed out how well the town was advertised as a place where liquor could not be sold. A saloon would certainly be a detriment to the property. Division Superintendent Anthony said the Southern Pacific Company was opposed to the opening of the saloon so near its depot at Burlingame and it never permitted saloons on any of its property where depots were located. He pointed out that it was a good business proposition to deny the application for the reason that a good class of residents would come to the county.

Geo. C. Ross said that in view of the fact that all the property-owners were opposed to the application the Board should bow to the will of the majority. He called attention to the prosperity of Palo Alto where liquor was not sold. He made a strong argument in support of the protests. At this juncture Harry Hatch who owns the property on which the saloon was to have been opened asked on behalf of Mr. Hawke to have the petition withdrawn and his request was granted on motion of Eikerenkotter seconded by McCracken.

Eikerenkotter was authorized to appoint an inspector for the San Bruno road bridge at a salary not to exceed $2.50 per day.

The following bills were audited and ordered paid out of the Third Road Fund:

A turkey raffle at Jack Williamson's to-morrow night.

SAN GREGORIO SNAPSHOTS.

SAN GREGORIO, Nov. 18—Dick Jury and Jim Cronk dropped in at Palmer's Hotel one evening just before election with a fine string of quail which they presented to Mrs. Palmer. The Assemblyman-elect declared he had made the slaughter, while the Constable from Redwood was just as emphatic that he had dropped the fleet-winged birds. Mrs. Palmer was in a quandary for awhile, not knowing who to thank, but after making a few inquiries she concluded that J. J. Bullock was the nimrod whose prowess had furnished her a quail dinner. Bullock will file a complaint today charging Jury and Cronk with petit larceny.

THE DOG POISONER AT WORK

The dog poisoner, that fiend who, in an unwise and unguarded moment was created in the form of man, is again engaged in his nefarious and detestable occupation—that of deliberately and maliciously throwing poisoned meat promiscuously about the streets, with the sole and only object of wantonly destroying one of the best and most faithful friends of man. It is safe to assume that a creature so base and depraved in nature, so devoid of sense of humanity, as to be guilty of such a dastardly act as poisoning a dog, would not hesitate to commit a far greater crime, were it not for the fear contained in the coward's heart that he could not escape the penalty which the law and justice demand.

During the past two weeks not less than twelve canines have fallen innocent victims of the poisoner's hand and how many more will suffer unless the guilty party is caught red-handed, it is hard to say. The finger of suspicion has been pointed to a certain business man of the town and if sufficient evidence is collected to prove his guilt, a necktie party would be a fitting ending to his career. The four-footed friend of man would then be safe and the public at large would feel more than satisfied that one had passed beyond who was unfit to dwell with decent people upon this sphere.

Ben Greet, the famous actor manager, with his famous company, assisted by several students of Stanford, will act Shakespeare's Hamlet in the assembly hall at Stanford University this afternoon and evening. BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION CURED BY THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

Because the liver is neglected people suffer with constipation, biliousness, headaches and fevers. Colds attack the lungs and contagious diseases take hold of the system. It is safe to say that if the liver were always kept in proper working order, illness would be almost unknown.

Thedford's Black-Draught is so successful in curing such sickness because it is without a rival as a liver regulator. This great family medicine is not a strong and drastic drug, but a mild and healthful laxative that cures constipation and may be taken by a mere child without possible harm.

The healthful action on the liver cures biliousness. It has an invigorating effect on the kidneys. Because the liver and kidneys do not work regularly, the poisonous acids along with the waste from the bowels get back into the blood and virulent contagion results.

Timely treatment with Thedford's Black-Draught removes the dangers which lurk in constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and will positively forestall the inroads of Bright's disease, for which disease in advanced stages there is no cure. Ask your dealer for a 25c. package of Thedford's Black-Draught.

THE SCENE PAINTER.

He Plays an Important Part In Staging a Modern Play.

When a play has been accepted for production it is sent to the scene painter, who goes over it carefully, taking note of all details to be reproduced. Then, if the subject is difficult, he makes a sketch of it in the flat. If this proves satisfactory to manager, actor and author, he builds it up in a miniature model on the scale of half an inch to the foot as perfect in proportion and exquisite in detail as the finished scene. An old gentleman lately looking over a collection of models in one of the New York studios, remarked that his granddaughter would be delighted to have them for doll houses. The proprietor of the studio smiled to himself. The models for a single play cost well up toward a thousand dollars. For an ordinary four act comedy the models, scenes, properties and costumes cost, let us say, five or six thousand dollars. The cost of the great scenic productions is never as much as the press agents say, but has been known to exceed $100,000.

When the model is approved, the stage carpenter takes measurements for such framework as may be necessary. The clumsy construction of the old days has given way to the solidest sort of building. Windows slide in their sashes; doors slam, shut and lock. Staircases are solid to the tread. Trees are built up in the round, and columns are turned out of solid wood. But as every show is intended to travel among all the great cities of the continent the heaviest scene must be made up of pieces short enough to be packed in a freight car.

The scene painter marks out the pieces of his model in tiny squares and then hangs a huge canvas beside the paint bridge with corresponding squares in scale. The draftsman stands on the bridge with a piece of charcoal on a stick like a billiard cue and square by square copies the lines of the model, while an assistant raises and lowers the cloth with tackle. Then the body paint is put on, and the details are added until the cloth is complete.—John Corbin in Scribner's.

A WOMAN'S PHILOSOPHY.

There ain't no possible good 's c'n come o' lendin' money to them 's ain't able to pay it back.

'S far 's my observation 's extended, it's always folks a long ways off 's it's wisest to lay all faults to.

No woman as 's goin' to fall in love ever ought to begin by marryin' another man first. It mixes things all up.

'S far 's my observation 's extended, no one don't ask for advice 'nless they've pretty well made up their mind not to take it.

It's better for you to learn the lesson 's all is vanity now than to wait 'n' have it fall on your head like a unexpected pickle jar.

I didn't get my trunk down 'cause I'll have Friday to pack anyhow, 'n' any one c'n slide a trunk down a ladder any time, but nobody can't never slide nothin' up nowhere.—"Susan Clegg and Her Friend, Mrs. Lathrop," by Anne Warner.

John Bright's Reply.

On one occasion John Bright received a letter from a very bad writer, to which he replied:

Dear Sir—Many thanks for your letter of the 12th inst. I have no doubt but that it is a very good letter and that it contains matter as interesting as it is important; but, by the bye, if you should be in town in the course of a few days, would you mind just stepping in and reading it to me? Yours faithfully,

JOHN BRIGHT.

A Watch's Variation.

As to the sympathetic vagaries of watches a correspondent writes: "I discovered some years ago that it was the metal buckle of my braces that caused the irregularities of my own particular watch. I therefore now make a rule of putting my spectacle case on the inside of my watch pocket, thus cutting off the connection."—London Chronicle.

Mutual Slips.

Tom—What made you give me away so when I was telling that yarn at the dinner table? Dick—I didn't mean to; it was only a slip of the tongue. But that's no reason why you should have kicked me so hard! Tom—Oh, I didn't mean to—it was only a slip of the foot.

POOR TROMBETTI!

The Sad Tale of the Professor and the Journalist.

Professor Trombetti, whose praises were so much sung in the foreign press as knowing the greatest number of languages of any one ever born, relates an anecdote of himself which occurred just after he was "discovered." In Rome he was so pestered by journalists that his patience at last gave way, and when cornered by the gentlemen of the press his language became distinctly lurid.

One day as he was coming out of the central postoffice a frank looking young man stepped up to him, and, holding out his hand, said: "I am so glad to make your acquaintance; I have been trying to find you for days." "And may I inquire with whom I am speaking?" "Why, I am X! Not a near relation to be sure, but near enough to offer you congratulations," etc. Professor Trombetti, reassured, and glad to get hold of some one to unburden himself to, took the stranger's arm, and, as they went down the street, gave, in emphatic terms, a description of his sufferings, his opinion of journalists, and, incidentally, much information about himself which the papers had been vainly sighing for. Finally they parted with an engagement for dinner the next evening.

That night the professor was sitting tranquilly in a restaurant, the observed of all observers, when suddenly he was seen to spring to his feet with a smothered exclamation. His friends crowded about for an explanation, but he could only sit down weakly and point to his newspaper, the Giornale d'Italia. There, in large print, were his imprudent revelations of the afternoon. He had been "done" by a journalist.—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE PERFECT NUMBER.

From Time Immemorial Three Has Had Unusual Significance.

The perfect number of the Pythagorean system, expressive of beginning, middle and end, was the number three. From time immemorial greater prominence has been given to it than to any other except seven. And as the symbol of the Trinity its influence has waxed more potent in recent times. It appears over and over again in both the New and Old Testaments. At the creation of the world we find land, water and sky, sun, moon and stars. Jonah was three days and nights in the whale's belly, Christ three days in the tomb. There were three patriarchs, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Abraham entertained three angels. Job had three friends. Samuel was called three times. Samson deceived Delilah three times.

Three times Saul tried to kill David with a javelin. Jonathan shot three arrows on David's behalf. Daniel was thrown into a den of three lions because he prayed three times a day. Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego were rescued from a fiery furnace. The commandments of the Lord were delivered on the third day. St. Paul speaks of faith, hope and charity. Three wise men came to worship Christ with presents three. Christ spoke three times to Satan when he was tempted. He prayed three times before he was betrayed. Peter denied him three times. He suffered three hours of agony on the cross. The superscription was in three languages, and three men were crucified. Christ appeared three times to his disciples and rose the third day.—New York Herald.

The Archbishop's Suggestion.

The late Archbishop Corrigan was one of the gentlest of men, but when it was necessary to reprove any one under his charge, whether priest or layman, he never hesitated to do so. At one time there was a vacancy in the rectorship of one of the large churches in New York city, and several clergymen were talked about for the position. Two prominent women who were members of the church called upon the archbishop and urged the selection of one of their clerical friends. As they were leaving one woman turned to the other and said impressively:

"When you get home pray that the Holy Ghost may give the archbishop the grace to appoint the right man."

Like a flash the archbishop turned around and said in icy tones:

"While you are at it ask the Holy Ghost to give women the grace to attend to their own business."—Harper's

KEEP UP YOUR ENERGY.

Stand Erect and Walk as Though You Were Somebody.

Never allow your physical standard to drop. Keep up your energy. Walk as if you were somebody and were going to do something worth while in the world, so that even a stranger will note your bearing and mark your superiority. If you have fallen into a habit of walking in a listless, indolent way, turn right about face at once and make a change. You don't want to shuffle along like the failures we often see sitting around on park benches or lolling about the streets, with their hands in their pockets, or haunting intelligence offices and wondering why fate has been so hard with them. You don't want to give people the impression that you are discouraged or that you are already falling to the rear. Straighten up, then! Stand erect! Be a man! You are a child of the Infinite King. You have royal blood in your veins. Emphasize it by your bearing. A man who is conscious of his kinship with God and of his power and who believes thoroughly in himself walks with a firm, vigorous step, with his head erect, his chin in, his shoulders thrown back and down, and his chest well projected in order to give a large lung capacity. He is the man who does things.

You cannot aspire or accomplish great or noble things so long as you assume the attitude and bearing of a coward or weakling. If you would be noble and do noble things you must look up. You were made to look upward and to walk upright, not to look down or to shamble along in a semihorizontal position. Put character, dignity, nobility, into your walk.—Success.

Native Dress In Tibet.

The native dress of Tibet consists essentially of a very wide gown five and a half feet long, with long sleeves, tightened in at the waist and gathered up so as not to fall below the ankles of the men of quality, or the townsmen, nor below the knees of the common people, who have much walking and work to do. Thus gathered up, the gown puffs out at the breast, forming a huge pocket. At night the wearer lets it fall and is thus wrapped up from his ears to his feet, as in a bed. Tibetan women wear the same gown—it is called a "chuba"—letting it hang down to the ankle. Their dress varies according to the locality to which they belong.

WHY MOTHERS WORRY

Did you ever hear a mother worry over a plump child? There is no better bank of health for a child to draw from than a good supply of healthy flesh.

Scott's Emulsion not only gives a child weight and plumpness, but it feeds the brain, bones and nerves with strength and active power.

Fewer mothers would worry if they knew more about Scott's Emulsion.

Scott's Emulsion is substituted by cheap emulsions and so-called wines, cordials and extracts of cod-liver oil. They can do you no good and are dear at any price. Why buy them? Scott's Emulsion has been the one reliable preparation of cod-liver oil for nearly thirty years.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.
SCOTT BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

It doesn't do people any good to be old enough to know better unless they are also too old to enjoy meanness.

Every man needs a chart to tell him the degrees of kinship in his family, but his wife knows them so well she can say them backward.

The truth about some people who seem to be doing so much is that they always put things off until the last minute and then have to rush.

The early bird may get the worm, but the late bird has as good an argument: He gets his rest which the early bird misses and has never yet starved.

Be patient with the girl who takes so long to dress. By and by she will be able to do up the work and dress herself and three or four children in half the time she takes for herself now. —Atchison Globe.

Dangers of Melancholy.

The weak, broken spirited person grows morbid and melancholy, and the brain degenerates rapidly under the influence of these mental states. Melancholia is something that comes more within the province of the will power than anything else. It can be cast off and avoided only in this way. Sometimes for the lack of stimulating the will physicians will recommend a change of occupation, scenery and association. This is merely an attempt to rescue the mind from introspection and give the will an opportunity to assert itself. Sometimes this is accomplished, and then, if followed up by cultivating the will, a permanent cure may be effected.—Exchange.

Sage Counsel.

"You want a piece er edvice fer yo' lifetime?"

"I sho' does."

"Well, den, don't ever try ter whip de devil roun' de stump. Yo' cloze is boun' ter ketch fire, en you'll burn up befo' yo' time!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Fatal Blunder.

"He is gone!" she wailed. "He is gone forever!"

"Don't be downcast," her friend urged. "He may come back."

"No, no; I shall never see him again. I gave up the letters he had written to me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Had Her Appetite.

Harry—Molly, you look good enough to eat. Molly—All you have to do is ask me to dine. I'll do the eating all right.—Boston Transcript.

HEMORRHOIDINE
When a Man Tells You
That a Bad Case of Piles
Can Only Be Cured by a cutting operation, he may mean well but he is mistaken. In this era of advanced science it is A SHAME TO CUT ANY CASE OF PILES. Our method—the new way—of curing piles robs the old surgical way—still urged—of all its terrors and brings about results more effective because it is more radical and permanent. It obviates the tortures and distressing after-effects of surgery and is without failure, pain, danger or hindrance to daily pursuits. The treatment can only be applied by a competent physician, occupying but a few minutes' time. We have cured nearly 7000 men and women with method. Many of these cases were of 20 to 40 years standing, names of whom will be sent for quiet investigation. Also, without surgery cure Fistulas, Fissures, ulceration, etc. For particulars address THOS.
